A LIVE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER AT HISTORIC APPOMATTOX COURT HOUSE VIRGINIA

VOLUME 63 NUMBER 23 APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, JUNE 9, 1955 Subscription Rate: $2 Per Year

Father Darkleaf

By c. h. r.

Action copies of our letters dear:
Daily World,
Oklahoma
ear Editor, Greetings to Tulsa from historic Appomattox, Virginia.
I intended to write to you, and I owe you to the people of Oklaoma to report a pleasant experince we are now having.
Williams Bros. contractors, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, are now engaged in building an 85 mile section of the Intercontinental Natural Gas Pine-line from Texas to New York. For the past few months, our town is the headquarters for the project. And it is said that this Virginia community of about 1500 population had had to build a motel room to take care of about 400 workers, many with their families.
Now the job has been done.
Trailers are parked all over, and some have found apartments, rooms, to accomodate these fine folk.
Many of them are from Oklahoma, and your state license tags are seen here.

But what I wanted to write was that we have found the workmen and their families from Oklahoma to be good folks. Especially have we noted that they are church going people. You have to get to church early here now to get a seat, and even despite the terrific hours that they work.

I just thought you might like to know that these Oklahoma people are making a fine impression here in this historic Virginia community.
So see us, more of you!

Very truly,
Calvin Robinson, Editor.

We have an excellent sample at hand so I might as well talk about the weather.

Coming up US 17 just north of Hampton, S. C., you go only a few miles when you cross Jehossee Island which there is no use talking about. You have seen it and likewise no doubt seeing if you have not seen it when you come up a couple of miles of roadside encompassed about with offerings of the "sea grass" there. We stopped. Mother Bright-eyed went over to one of the crude stands to select a woven basket with lots of woven containers— and this delightful item we now have with us. But, that's not the I went over and chatted with Emma, the aged Negro who was operating the weaving and at the roadside stand. "How many, many year." And then,
"Learn me fum watchin wit this was, for sure, "Gullah" dialect of the Low Country of South Carolina. We had sensed the dialect when passing Catfish Row, the original site of Porgy and Bess. Gullah is a sonorous language and passed the bandan-dana dresses with their wonderful offerings of native flowers in very oldest section of historic Charleston. With ante-bellum dignity Negroes of the S. C. Low Country have maintained a civilization of their own — and Gullah is the language. Gullah is a corruption of 16th Century English, features barbarity of grammar and beauty of rhythm. It is said, too, on the great Bantu dark coast covers half of Africa — and is official in developing our native tongue. Daniel Defoe tried to write Gullah, but he did better in his "Learn us fum 'weatch we do."

Trying to get back to the baskets, they are just a few miles north of Charleston where the sea grass weaving is centered. The sea grass is found from the marsh along the banks of tidal creeks, and dried into pale straw. Some call it "salt grass." Strips of palmetto are then soaked and dried. They showed us how the weaving was done, and how the palmetto was the same as that used in the great cathedrals on Palm Sunday. Ah yes, we remember the Palm Sunday service at the great National Cathedral in Washington: so now we have two centers; one from that service, and other from the weavers of the Low Country. Whole families do the weaving, and we trust make a suitable living out of it. In fact, before we stopped and made a purchase we were told that it was to chip in our bit toward keeping alive a sectional art which is one of the many bits of local color one finds in traveling about the country.

Sincerely,
Father Darkleaf

MRS. JAMES B. ABBITT

Mrs. Vara W. Burke Abbitt, the widow of Dr. James B. Abbitt, died Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, after an illness of several months. She was a former deputy treasurer of Appomattox County. She was the daughter of the late Richard F. and Alice Sears Burke. For the last twenty years she had made her home here and was deputy treasurer until her retirement in 1953. She was prominently identified with civic and religious activities both here and in Norfolk where she had previously resided. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She was a past president of the Medical Auxiliary of the Norfolk Medical Society.

She was an active member of the Liberty Baptist Church here, where she taught a Bible class for many years.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Vay Abbitt and Mrs. C. D. Staples, both of Bon Air; a niece, Mrs. Lee Covington, of Raleigh, N. C.; three granddaughters; a sister, Mrs. W. T. Steele, of Appomattox; two brothers, Richard L. Burke and Jerry A. Burke, both of Appomattox, and a number of nieces and nephews in addition to Mrs. Covington, whom she reared.

Active pallbearers were: Robert A. Sears, Jerry A. Burke, Jr.; Richard F. Burke, III; R. F. B. Steele, W. T. Steele, Jr.; Richard F. Burke, Joshua Pretlow, and John D. Abbitt.

Dr. Christian Writes Letter Of Appreciation

(Editor's note: The following letter of appreciation to the public comes to us from Dr. D. A. Christian, Jr.:)

On passing the 75th milestone in the journey of life, much to my surprise, my brothers and sisters and my departed wife's brothers and sisters with their families were here to celebrate this event in my life and have 'Open House.' A great number of my friends called to see me and many others sent me cards and tokens of friendship. This, strictly speaking, was a wonderful gift — the people for whom I am working with them; for many years of traveling with them along the rough roads and trials of this life. We may imagine that the deeds of a family physician are like coins on which are inscribed: This certifies that this doctor saved a child from death by being prompt to rush from his bed in the still hours of the night to give skilled medical aid and a heartfelt desire to restore him to health. Another coin is written: A token for the relief and comfort which medical care and a spirit of cheerfulness can give an aged person near the sunset of life. The family physician's duty to mankind is to never turn down the poor; nor to do any act that would keep him poor; he should not toll the rich too heavily because he thinks he can stand it, but be honest and fair to every one regardless of color or creed and render useful service in saving life or relieving anxiety and sorrow of the people. Since my son's tragic death, I have decided to do what office practice I can in order to keep my mind in the right line of thought and still be some help to humanity.

"The poor oppressed honest man would never sure have been born, had there not been some recompence to comfort those that mourn."

—Burns.

"May my friends keep ever before my vagrant steps the kindly light of hope and though age and infirmity overtake me and I come not in sight of my dreams, teach me to be thankful for life; and for time's olden memories that are sweet and good and may the evening twilight find me gentle still."

I thank every one for all the deeds of kindness, the expressions of friendly help on their faces, the gifts, the beautiful flowers and everything that could he done to ease my pathway on down the road toward the river that all must cross. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart.

Record Vote Expected In Town Election

Last Chapter Written In Mayberry Case Yesterday

The saga of events following the shooting of two men at Evergreen on the night of Feb. 25, ground to its final chapter here yesterday, as Frank Mayberry was sentenced to a second life term in the state penitentiary. Judge J. W. Flood ordered the second life term, after Mayberry entered a plea of guilty to the shooting of his brother-in-law, Jack Tucker. The trial yesterday was in contrast to the one two weeks ago, when packed court rooms heard the defendant receive a life imprisonment sentence after two days of legal battle on indictment for the slaying of Dr. David A. Christian, III. Dr. Christian had gone to the Mayberry - Tucker home in Evergreen Feb. 25 on an errand of medical duty, only to be shot as he knocked at the front door.

Yesterday's trial was strictly anticlimax and without the crowds of the first court procedure. Mayberry, 47, a railway worker, was brought here from Richmond and quietly entered a guilty plea to the second indictment. In a matter of moments the judge pronounced sentence of the same punishment a Cumberland County jury had meted out in the earlier trial.

Mayberry's court - appointed attorneys, William F. Watkins Jr. and J. B. Wall Jr., of Farmville, stated this week that they did not plan to appeal the life sentence.

Unless freed by a governor's pardon, Mayberry will spend the rest of his days in prison. Under Virginia law, he is not eligible for a parole.

Meeting Here June 13 For Wheat Buyers

All persons in Appomattox County who plan to buy wheat this year are requested to turn in their names to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) office.

Mr. C. S. Rush, County ASC Chairman, is requesting names of wheat buyers in order to make proper distribution of instructions and forms that buyers will require under the wheat marketing quota program. Wheat buyers will include intermediate buyers (those who buy for resale), warehousemen, elevator operators, feeders, and processors.

To acquaint them with their responsibilities under the program, and to explain the use of various forms and reports that will be required is the reason for this listing. Mr. Rush has scheduled a meeting on June 13, at the Appomattox court House, beginning at 1:00 P. M.

The ASC Chairman strongly urges every wheat buyer in the county to be present at this meeting. He also urges that warehousemen and elevator operators bring with them to the meeting the person responsible for maintaining records and bookkeeping. It is planned that the forms and instructions be delivered to the wheat buyers at this meeting.

Bids Are Asked

The State Highway Department is asking for bids on the extension of the four-lane highway east of Lynchburg on U. S. 460. The bid request calls for the building of 4.01 miles of concrete roadway.

The allocation of $300,000 for this work was made last month by the state road body. The four-lane highway which begins at the intersection of U. S. 501 now extends for a distance of nearly three miles. With the building of the new section, this modern highway will be completed almost as far as Concord.

The program to modernize Route 460 is of major interest here, as this route is the most traveled passing through Appomattox County.

A record vote is expected here next Tuesday, June 14, when Town of Appomattox voters will elect a mayor and six members of the Town Council. There are more registered voters in the town than ever before, and keen competition by nine candidates for the six places on the council will serve to bring out a full vote.

Mayor Chas. F. James is without opposition for another two-year term. Those elected Tuesday will take office in September.

Candidates for the Council, in the order listed on the official ballot are:

Mrs. Calvin Robinson
Grover E. Smith
R. W. (Bobby) Mitchell
John C. Caldwell
C. T. Moses, Jr.
Fred H. Lawson
J. T. Irby
T. Hunter Dickerson
W. S. Gills.

Of the candidates, only three are incumbents. Mrs. Robinson and Mr. Moses are the veteran members of council, having served three terms. Mr. Smith has served one full term. Two other incumbents: C. C. Poe and J. T. Almond did not offer for re-election, and there is one vacancy on council, that was created by the death of Dr. D. A. Christian, III.

The polls will be open from 6:30 A. M. to 7:30 P. M.
